

International conference

Farmers and veterinarians together to tackle antimicrobial resistances

Borschette Center, Brussels, 23rd October 2015

Presidency of the Council of the European Union

LE GOUVERNEMENT DU GRAND-DUCHÉ DE LUXEMBOURG
Ministère de l'Agriculture, de la Pêche et de la Production des consommateurs
Administration des services vétérinaires

FESASS

Closing remarks

Didier DELMOTTE
President of FESASS

International Conference: Farmers and veterinarians together to tackle antimicrobial resistances
Brussels October 23rd 2015

Farmers and veterinarians together to tackle antimicrobial resistances

Closing remarks

Common needs and challenges

- To protect the antimicrobial efficacy
 - To secure antimicrobial availability
- For animal health and animal welfare
For public health
For food safety and food security
For economics

International Conference: Farmers and veterinarians together to tackle antimicrobial resistances
Brussels October 23rd 2015

Closing remarks

An appropriate regulatory framework

- For a targeted prescription and a prudent use of antimicrobial at farm
 - With scientific analysis of the risks
- For an improved availability of medicines everywhere and for all animals
 - With stronger incentives for research

Closing remarks

Unity creates strength

- Collective actions and plans are efficient
 - They are tools for sensibilisation and involvement of farmers and veterinarians
- Public and private partnership must be developed
 - They constitute a key solution to improve the the global activities against AMR and to enforce the future national and EU action plans

Farmers and veterinarians together to tackle antimicrobial resistances

Closing remarks

Thanks to our partners and to all of you !